

Kathleen Niclas

Why is the state legislature getting involved in safety regulations? There are already regulations in place that have served business and employees well. There is no need to change these policies.