

Deborah Kernan

What is driving this? Has there been an increase in heat related injury or death? People have been working in the desert heat for years - I think they are smart enough to know how to dress, hydrate, and take breaks without the government overreach being proposed here. Enough already.