

JANE DAVIDSON

We must protect citizens from heat related illnesses, once a person has had a heat stroke they are more susceptible to serious illness or death from future heat exposure. This will only become worse as climate warms.