

Brad Christmas

No business can survive this regulation

Employers and Employees should be aware of humidity and temperature levels and take appropriate protections but not at the expense of 75% work time reduction

Hydration and acclimation are a much better option