

Howard Hutchinson

I have lived and worked in New Mexico for nearly all of my 76 years. Every summer I have worked full days at temperatures 100+ degrees. Yes I have worn proper head cover and sometimes wet down my upper body. But there was never a time that required a 45 minute break to after 15 minutes of work. I anticipate that this summer will not be any different. I will work all day taking short breaks to "hose" down. The proposal presented is not practical.
