

byron makarwich

Most businesses are small and many service homes and businesses every day. So how would this new rule work for servicing or construction or repairs at home sites or other mobile locations?

Don't think so !

And it would cost the customer extreme amounts that would be prohibitive. This is just one point of view. I'll let others tell you their side. By the way, do ever think about the ramifications of your actions, like how it will hurt more people than it will protect ?