

John Henderson

This is got to be the first sign of insanity. Have you lost your mind? No business could operate effectively or profitably when they have to give their employees 45 minutes off every hour. That's fine if they don't expect to be paid, but otherwise stop this foolishness and leave it alone.