

Scott Goff

A 45 minute break per hour is unreasonable. How about a 10 minute break under the worst conditions? If workers can only work for 15 minutes per hour it would be better for work to be called off for the day. Taxpayers should not have to fund such inefficiency.