

stephen Coletti

This rule will cripple businesses in New Mexico, and place a huge burden of increased cost on consumers. Many businesses in industries like construction may opt to just shut down for 6 months a year and move to other parts of the country that aren't burdened by such rulings, leaving a vacuum for services in New Mexico.