

Jessi Rae Reed

I'm a lifelong resident of New Mexico and I am shocked that a project like this would be approved when the water in our state has been steadily declining for decades. The last 10 years has been especially bad. We cannot afford to give this much water to a corporation that has no real care for our communities. Let alone the air pollution it will cause to a population already struggling with bad air. No amount of money is worth sacrificing the health of our land and people.