

Jessica Boyd

AI was already a hindrance to people's every day lives when it came to their jobs. Now that these data centers are being built, the environment in towns which they reside, are becoming less flush. The air is being filled with millions of pollutants, The water is becoming scarce, The water is becoming less usable. I refuse to believe AI can ever be good if this is its effect on the world.