

Lauren Spivey

No one wants this stupid data center. Just because you want to enhance your already privileged life doesn't mean you can sacrifice everything around you that others need to survive. Everyone who is building / calling for the construction of this data center are selfish and self-centered! Why can't you understand that our beautiful planet is not worth your selfish leisure for the short time in comparison that you'll be here. The earth has been here and thrived for so long, please stop this inhumane greed before it dies. There will never be an excuse to kill our planet. There won't be a second one. And what do you think will happen once all the water is gone? What will you drink? What will you eat? It will be us next. Some have already been sacrificed for your cause. Please stop before we can't help anymore.