

Linda Sperling

The people of Dona Ana County cannot "drink data" nor can they breathe 10.1 million tons of emissions and remain healthy. The strain on water resources that Project Jupiter will bring will diminish the quality of life for all residents of Dona Ana County and will negatively impact the water resources of the rest of New Mexico. The promise of 4,000 construction jobs (all temporary) and a mere 1,500 "permanent" jobs does not justify the extent of environmental damage that will result from allowing this project to go forth.

There were promises made years ago to the residents of Carlsbad that WIPP would help their economy -- it has only served to increase the number of cancer patients in the region. New Mexico does not need a data center that sucks up so much precious water and taints so much precious air. Reject the appeals from profiteers to build Project Jupiter or anything like it.