This is a horrendous act of exploiting the local resources. Those people who are responsible for this should be ashamed of yourself every night. You're not helping your country to grow, you're helping murderers to kill more innocent people in the most insidious way possible. Shame on big corporations, shame on those who thinks AI is the future. The only future you'll get is your children inhaling chlorine from the air, drinking dirty water from the sink and unable to sleep at night due to extreme noise pollution and heat given off by the data centers. If you don't have children, then great, you'll get to go through all of that all by your selfish self because you refused to think further when you were in charge of this.
