

Alius Skadberg-hess

Data centers have already proven to drain our water supply of which we already have little. And the overwhelming public disapproval can not go unnoticed