

Laura Naranjo

I strongly OPPOSE this project. As designed, this project will consume water that New Mexico does not currently have, and will likely siphon water away from existing nearby communities in the future. It will likely also be detrimental to the local environment in ways we aren't yet aware of while creating audible disruption to neighboring communities and wildlife. On top of this, I'm not convinced that the number of jobs provided will be significant nor will they be long lasting.