

John Kitzinger

I am writing to express my support for Project Jupiter - IF AND ONLY IF -it can produce it's own electricity without producing tons of greenhouse gases. As I understand it, the current plan is to use Bloom Energy fuel cells. However, these still output a substantial, albeit lower, amount of carbon dioxide - one of the major greenhouse gases. I believe the project can do better than that.

Sincerely,
John Kitzinger