

Kelly Jenks

Please deny this permit. The emissions allowed by this permit will significantly harm air quality in this region, which is already very bad. This, in turn, harms the health of people who live here, who are already underserved by the healthcare industry. It also makes this a less desirable place to live, ultimately hurting the local economy. The people who profit most from this project do not live here--not in this region, and not even in this state. The people who will suffer from this project do live here--voting in elections, paying taxes, and sustaining these communities. They should be your top priority and concern when it comes to permit decisions. New Mexicans have been "lab rats" too many times before, paying the price for industries that do not benefit us. We know how this goes. Please don't repeat past mistakes.