

Nathan Hidden

It would be cool if the data center provided some kind of community facing services like being a VPS provider. I always have to create a VPS in Denver or Dallas, but it would be cool if I could create servers in Albuquerque.

There are expensive providers here but nothing truly self-service and with good pricing like vultr. The providers here make you submit a contact form.

Sincerely,
Nathan