

Juan Campos

I am a resident in California and I am worried for my residency here in California. It can lead from one state to another and I want a change because we don't need these data centers to survive but we need the things that the data centers need to survive.