We were able to survive ages without generative Ai, hell even regular devices we didn't need those then and we shouldn't need them now. This is the only earth we have, there is no back up, no new planet just like or similar enough to earth that we can live on it. What will we do when our earth becomes dust because of drought, what will YOU do. A drought affects everybody, even the rich, even the lawmakers, the presidents, anybody with a position of power. Power doesn't matter when you can't even replenish your body, whatever happened to thinking before acting? When people cared about how they affected our beautiful, giving earth. This will destroy all of us, and it's incredibly selfish that they want to go through with this. Scum, all of them, pure Scum. They should be ashamed of themselves for wanting to approve this.
