

Ben Brennan

I am writing in firm opposition to the Yucca Growth Infrastructure, LLC-YGI Microgrid Air Quality Construction Permit Application. Considering that this project is estimated to emit more greenhouse gases than two of the state's largest cities combined, it would be abhorrent if this project were to be approved. This also comes at a crucial time in New Mexican history, where drought is so drastic, the Rio Grande is bone dry.

Such a venture would be taking away resources from already struggling communities. Please take these public comments into consideration, as Project Jupiter would have devastating environmental impacts on New Mexico.