The world needs our help, our Mother Earth sustains its animals and humans the best it can. We have abandoned her in these times of political power, environmental destruction, and social injustice. We must refrain from wasting more of our resources on things such as AI data centers. Why can't we put this much money and energy into finding ways to help the world? The environment is screaming for help. The rivers and water reserves are going dry. Why build AI data centers if life on Earth is failing and dying?
