

Andrew Curtice

This entire process flies in the face of the interest of the people of New Mexico. The managers of this project have been consistently deceitful and have astroturfed a campaign in the interests of the rich and powerful and not the people. This project would raise energy prices and poison our communities further. We are a state still suffering from the consequences of the Manhattan project, we can't give the powerful another bomb to drop on us.