

Na Na

I am writing to express my questions for Project Jupiter, which I believe are taking water from the agriculture and the land usage that New Mexico needs. You keep saying this doesn't take drinking water. That's not our concern. Our concern is you are taking agriculture and water that this land needs. Now, please respond to that situation which is more important than almost anything. Be open and honest about this because you are not doing so. If you don't understand the dire situation that New Mexico is in with our drought, you do not deserve to use our water for any reason. So tell us what your position is on this. Don't beat around the bush. You can't get to the drinking water but you do use the water that agriculture and the land of New Mexico needs.

I urge the New Mexico Environment Department to review this project.

Sincerely,
MI K
