

Steve White

I believe these data centers will lead to far more than drought. They will strip our land of many more resources, despite the fact that they will serve as our own prison through surveillance. And if this project gets shut down, many more will pop up.