

Patience McKenzie

If we want future generations to be able to survive and survive well on this earth, I do not believe that building a giant data center will solve any of our problems. It only builds corporate greed and ruins our land, wildlife, and our water supply as we know it. I don't care how much money it provides to the higher ups, when it is ruining lives, and burning up the earth as we know it. We only have one life, and I do not want to spend the remaining years of my life, worrying about the air that I breathe, whether the water I drink is clean, and the land I stand on is not livable.