Ai data centers are popping up everywhere. By our homes. By our favorite vacation spots. By our schools and jobs. It's inescapable and it's ruining millions of lives. I don't want to wake up to the sound of a data center every morning. I don't want to watch my neighbors and friends and animals suffer. I want to hear a river, a river that isn't being used to cool machines just so you can have some generated picture with too many fingers. Wouldn't you rather have human hands, human minds, thriving and creating? I want my little siblings to grow up in a world where they don't have to fear everything they see is fake, where I can hear their laughs over the earsplitting hum of a data center. I want their faces to not be hidden behind masks in order to breathe in less data center toxins. I want to feel and see things that are real. Not ai. The inhabitants of the area of the planned data center are already severely at risk in terms of environmental pollution. This center would harm what is already a struggling community, especially given the history of Bloom Energy to illegally dump toxic waste. Protect your people. Protect your land. No project Jupiter.
