

Tania Radinson

There is no need to build this in New Mexico, a desert state that is already struggling, under the false promise of job creation and economic advancement for residents. This will only drain our resources, misuse your land, and harm the environment around it. Do not build it.