

Philip Boese

Please provide a bona fide environmental impact survey of the likely consequences of your proposed project. We are in drought conditions. Water is needed, first, for households and crops. Other uses are secondary to these. Importantly, what is the purpose of building this and so many other data centers? I've read we already have more data centers than China, a much larger population. Can you make us believe these data centres are not for digital surveillance and control? You would need to explain, in detail, the actual use of the facility you are proposing.