

Theodore Taylor

I have no opposition to energy projects or industrial projects that stimulate the economy, however this project will not stimulate the economy. Rather, this project will harm the local economy by mooching off of our local infrastructure, which, by the way, is infrastructure that cannot physically handle the demand that this project requires. Data center construction has already led to severe water and power shortages in other places in the country, including areas with plenty of water. New Mexico does NOT have plenty of water. New Mexico is currently in a drought and can't afford to give up any more water, as nearly 80% is already going to agriculture, giving the remaining 20% away is a DEATH SENTENCE. Everyone will have to leave or die when there is no more water. Please think with your brain instead of your wallet, assuming you haven't already traded the former for the latter. NO DATA CENTERS IN NEW MEXICO.