

Diana Delgado

When will you guys realize we can't breathe, eat, or drink data. The Air quality in the area you want to build your useless data center is already failing to meet the minimum safety requirement for air quality, what do you think will happen to the environment and people surrounding this data base? Do they not exist? Nobody wants this.