To start, I do not agree with building a data center in New Mexico.

Think about it. The weather is already unbearable. If centers continue to be built, water will be lost, with the remaining sludge, homes will be flooded with bills from the energy being sucked for data centers, a pain-cutting noise will make you want to rip out your own hair, air will suffocate and kill slowly. Imagine this world upon the people.

Maybe money sounds good for a moment, but when you really take a good look at the suffering around you, will that thin sheet of green bring joy anymore? You and your future children will live in struggle because of temporary earnings.

The people need you, they trust you, and continue to hope you prefer them over billionaires-trillionaires! What does a man gain if he has the whole world in his hands?

There are so many great things that can come out of your community if you decide to refuse and prevail over the lust for this project. Please, put the people first before the profit. The community and the children are depending on you. They deserve your support. The world will thank you for the compassion and bravery you have for the people you serve.

Continue to hear them out and understand their fear.

Thank you.
