

Michael Carrie

I got a pamphlet with a link supporting project Jupiter outside a Walgreens off of Rinconada in Las Cruces Nm. They wanted me to send a form letter parroting their BS. I DO NOT SUPPORT PROJECT JUPITER.

Nearly every community that has taken in a data center has regretted it and the 'thousands of jobs' they say will come here will only be here during construction. It is the worst kind of infrastructure that makes energy prices higher for everyone for little benefit to the community.

Their promises of it using 'only two homes a day' worth of water is clearly BS, in three years when the cards become obsolete the data center will become useless, and all of that supposes that this whole ponzi scheme of an industry doesn't collapse tomorrow. To say that it looks like a bubble is a massive understatement!

This is a horrible idea and any research into it at the locations of other data centers will prove my point.

Thank you for reading my rant, be careful about astroturfing campaigns from Project Jupiter, and I hope whoever reads this has a good day.

Sincerely,
Michael Carrie
