

Jade Peavy

Look outside. How many trees do you see? Many? Not many? Now. How many birds do you see? How about just grass in general? Nature that we need to survive and you want to build a damn data center that is going to ruin our world forever. We have three years, three, until our home isn't fixable anymore. Why would you make it even more unsustainable? Why not use all this time and money for, oh I don't know, GROWING ACTUAL FOOD?! What is going to happen when the farmers that you keep turning a blind eye to just give up. I'll tell you what. Us, the common people, will be fine. We'll grow our own food, raise our own animals, and you, the so called wealthy, will starve. You will eat each other until there is none of you left..and I hope IF that day ever come, you get to look in the mirror and weep at the person you gave become before succumbing to starvation. Don't build that fucking Data Center. Do NOT build any more Data Centers.

Did you know I wanted children? I wanted three of them. Two boys and a girl. I wanted to raise a family with the man I love..but how can I bring a child into the world when I can barely afford to feed myself? How am I going to explain to my child why the world is dying? That the "People in charge" don't even care about the people they are in charge of. I can't and I won't. I have come to the devastating realization that I might never be a mother. I will never have my own child in my arms. Because how can I have a child when the air is hardly breathable, water is not even accessible in millions of homes, and our planet is being killed by the people who were trusted to protect it. I just wanted to be a mom. Now I might not even live to be 30.