

ROY G. DILF

NO DATA CENTERS IN NEW MEXICO NOW OR EVER

This project was never needed, and I hope with all these comments you can truly see how unwanted this has always been. From all walks of life, people internationally are begging for a complete moratorium of these data centers. And to scale in, the one common ground the people of Dona Ana have, is the want for Project Jupiter's moratorium.

There are a myriad of other things that could have been invested in and bettered the community. If there was a genuine want to provide for the us, then we would see it done by making affordable and quality housing for those in Dona Ana. Or by giving actual job opportunities to the citizens of this county, not made up numbers and empty promises with what this Data Center will provide. Or better yet protecting our local artist and their work that makes New Mexico cultured and relevant, or even more so the people who make up this amazing state, by limiting generative ai usage--due to it's surveillance qualities and history of stealing art. This data center will not provide a drip for this community, and will in turn suck us dry.

These made up statistics the commissioners have been peddled and are attempting to push on the people of Dona Ana and New Mexico are a being illuminated. Something to this magnitude should have first been put to a vote. Or at the very least thought out more, especially with all the back tracking that's been done by the commissioners with what is in the 1500 page document. Now we are seeing a new air permit being submitted. It is the obligation of our elected officials to have done their due diligence with these permits and factors that will impact their citizens.