

NA NA

I mean c'mon this is just a shitty thing to do with shitty outcomes for everyone. I don't think there is a reason to make or do anything that will have such a negative impact in the world. This should never have been an idea and should never be built, I'm truly so disappointed that however many people this had to go through and wasn't denied like it should have been the second it was even a thought