

Samantha Boyne

Building this data center is irresponsible. There was no thought to the people, the land, or the environment about how this would affect everything. It is clear the people do not want this data center in their home yet you still don't listen to the people who will actually have to live with your decision. The public should be given 60 additional days to review and comment on the air quality permit.