

Blas Budlong

I am writing about Project Jupiter. I would like to know exactly what sort of pollution we can expect and to have a chance for the community to decide if it's worth it. I also think there should be clear repercussions if pollution exceeds project jupiters claims. It seems unfair to push this on citizens without the public having more options to voice their opinions and get transparency about the impact project jupiter will really have.