There are already so many natural calamities being brought about due to our irresponsibility towards our climate nad our environments. From extinction of species, to drought, to cyclonic seasons not being predictable at all. THERE WAS RECENTLY AN EARTHQUAKE OF SCALE 7.2 ON THE RICHTER'S SCALE. This caused over 2000 deaths in Venezuela because there were TWO SUCCESSIVE EARTHQUAKES. Now apparently that isn't alarming enough, so we should obviously do more, test the limits of the earth, poke it with a stick until in the end, the damage is truly irreversible. There is no planet B.
