

Maja Pritišanac

These data centers won't help anyone. They're demanding for the environment, animals and people. The amount of water they waste is so large, nature can't restore it fast enough. Rich people are getting richer and common folk are suffering. This is not fair. No one asked for this data center, common people didn't even know it was planned to be built. Earth has already given us everything. Now, we need to return the favour and stop destroying it.