I am a student who just wants to grow up and live in a world where the air isn't toxic or I have to worry about not having potable water in the future. I am begging for you to deny this project because we already have so many things harming the environment, we don't need another. I do not understand why so many companies want to do projects that harms the environment? It's selfish and the money isn't even worth it. This project affects everyone, even the people working on it. So why? All I want to do is grow up but i'm so scared that climate change disasters will kill me before I have the chance. I do not understand the greed and evilness of the people doing projects like this. You live on this Earth too, it harms you as well surely you don't want that for yourself saying you're so selfish. Please deny the Yucca Growth Infrastructure.
