

Asher Beliveau

I may not be from or in Mexico, but this is nonsense. This data center is so large it will be doing almost five times the damage normal centers do, and you government officials and billionaires just don't care! Because of people like you, animals are going extinct, water is drying up and the earth is warming up faster than it should. This planet needs us just as much as we need it, and so far a small portion of people only care for this planet. How would you feel to be the one to tell your current children or future children that it's your fault the earth is ruined? How would you feel to be the one to make it so the planet is unbelievably hot they can't bear it, to make it so that most animals are extinct, and everyone, including the government, billionaires and you, are living in garbage because you let greed fuel your actions. This is madness, and it must be stopped.