

Consuelo Granados

Data centers are intruders to our communities and to our wildlife. Many communities drinking water is being contaminated and there are reports of an increase of noise pollution. How can we allow for data centers like these to be made in our communities that will destroy our environment? It's pushing us closer to worse climate change and soon we will see and feel the consequences of our actions. This is not something to be ignored and forgotten because personally I don't want to suffer from the actions of someone else.