

Andrew Cordova-Andrews

The new technology suggested here will not change the facts of the environmental impact of the data center. At this time our AI needs are met and are not growing, and the outlook for existing companies such as OpenAI who sponsors this project are grim at best - running out of capital by 2027. This project will not help our communities in any way. At a time when water is scarce here. I do not support giving away my children's future in our state.