I am only 15, and i'm watching my home burn before my very eyes. we have made substantial progress evolving as humans but it was until the early 2010s that artificial intelligence was introduced, it might be a quick fix for a math problem you're stuck on, but it throws our future away, it throws mine away. ai not only proceeds to take away the last of our drinking water and ruins the planet, but shrinks our cognitive function and takes the place of the art us humans make. ai can make such pretty paintings, songs, generate ideas, scripts, and has even made actors, but the truth is the only thing that ai can't do is feel, but we can. and we will feel the consequences and pain of our ecosystems and consequences if we don't act now, ai won't be sorry.
