

Samantha Estrada

I am a resident of El Paso Texas. We do not want this data center. We're already in a drought, the prices keep going up and up with no help from our elected officials. The only reason they want this is to put money into THEIR pockets. It will end up coming to how it did in other states where we can't physically get water from the El Paso water company anymore. Or end up spending hundreds of dollars more just for the water to not even be clean. All these promises of the center changing and benefiting the community when there's been nothing but bad news coming from these. Loud damaging noises to the people and the community, all use of the water they have, constant air pollution, and even electricity blackouts. We've survived thousands of years without AI we don't need it now, especially when the money hungry people are just trying to get more and more. What good is money if no one has it? If there's no one to pay anymore? It's just useless by then.