I am writing to express my strong opposition to Project Jupiter in Doña Ana County. Our region is already facing a severe, long-term drought, and prioritizing an industrial mega-project that demands massive amounts of water threatens our local agriculture and residential drinking water security. Furthermore, an AI data center of this scale places an unsustainable burden on our shared electrical grid and public infrastructure, while offering very few permanent jobs for local residents and permanently harming our community's quality of life. Most concerning is that the entire approval process has completely lacked transparency and public discourse, rushing through tax incentives and permits without independent, comprehensive environmental impact audits. I urge our county commissioners to listen to their constituents, protect our finite natural resources, and immediately halt Project Jupiter.
