

Samantha Martinez

We already can't afford to lose good water to a data center, but the air pollution and threat to the area poses a second threat, we need to protect our air as the climate heats and we are more likely to experience changes in weather patterns or bad winds, this will affect not just rural populations but many.