

Lena Bennet

Considering how little water we have here in New Mexico, I don't see how a data center like Project Jupiter will be sustainable here. Not to mention the increased greenhouse gas emissions it will produce. I guess the data center would be sustainable but what about us? What kind of New Mexico will we and future generations have to live in?